To accomplish this purpose the act prescribes certain factors which are to be taken into consideration in determining the excessiveness of profits, and directs that all excessive profits so determined be eliminated. Three points in the history of renegotiation are particularly pertinent to an understanding of the present situation. First, renegotiation is an after-the-fact examination of the contractor's profit and performance on all renegotiable business in a fiscal year. Renegotiation was established in the Renegotiation Act of 1942 as a method of lowering excessive prices on a contract-by-contract basis. Renegotiation of individual contracts and subcontracts involved serious practical difficulties and also proved unfair to contractors who were not able to offset losses against profits. Overall renegotiation of profits on a fiscal year basis was provided by the Revenue Act of 1942. It has been on that pattern ever since. Secondly renegotiation was first proposed as a wartime measure and was terminated at the end of 1945. It was in effect again during the war in Korea. The Congress has in the past, however, considered it an appropriate measure in a semimobilization period. Thus, renegotiation was applied on a limited scale from 1948 to 1951 and the broad 1951 act was extended by the...
