

Faith and Power: Christianity and Islam in Secular Britain (Paperback)

By Lesslie Newbigin, Lamin Sanneh, Jenny Taylor

Wipf Stock Publishers, United States, 2005. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Reprint. 213 x 137 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . The issue . . . in the multicultural millennium is not so much the Islamization of a once-Christian culture as the emergence, with state collusion, of discrete territories where vastly different norms prevail, shut off and resentful, a breeding ground for ferment and a target for hostility. In the aftermath of the London suicide bombings, this unusual book seems more prophetic than ever. Begun six years before 9/11, it examined the roots of political Islam and its offshoots in Britain. In describing the indifference of policy makers and government officials to religion, it warned of extremism taking root among disaffected young Muslims--and offered a vision of hope tempered with realism that might have helped avert tragedy had it been more widely heeded. The book's timely republication offers another chance to understand the roots of our present crisis--and a way out of it. Lamin Sanneh, himself a former Muslim, explores the history of Islam's always controversial accommodations with the West. Jenny Taylor's debut contribution engages critically at the grassroots level, looking in...
